What is SmartBark Engineered Siding?

BarkClad has developed a revolutionary new engineered bark product that looks like natural bark, and has many more advantages. SmartBark is molded from closed-cell polyurethane and then each shingle is individually painted to give each one a slightly different look. The result is a man-made product that will last a lifetime, add insulative properties to your home, look great and is easy to install and maintain.

SmartBark saves time and money without sacrificing style.

THE WORLD'S FIRST AND ONLY ENGINEERED BARK SIDING

Just a few of the advantages of using SmartBark Engineered Siding

Durable and Maintenance Free.

Molded from closed-cell structural polyurethane in our controlled manufacturing facility, our products will stand up to harsh weather and environments and remain fade resistant. This means our SmartBark panels will not rot, crack, scale, shift or experience color changes over time like natural bark siding. SmartBark is washable, paintable, flame resistant and has an average R-value of 3.37 per inch. SmartBark saves on energy costs year after year.

Authenticity. Our artisans, design engineers and manufacturing processes have captured the look of natural bark siding. We take great pride in providing you with a unique, authentic look in a high performance composite building product.

Easy Installation. SmartBark siding panels offer significant savings over traditional bark siding by reducing installation labor. Our unique tab system and lapping design make for a quick install. SmartBark also does not require bug treatment or a special moisture barrier unless desired.

Design Flexibility.

Personalize the look of your next project by using SmartBark engineered siding. Our versatile product provides you with design flexibility within your budget. Whether using SmartBark as an accent on gable ends, full house coverage or highlighting a wall on a covered living area, we offer you limitless design flexibility.
